Dear Parents and Guardians,

The National Weather Service is predicting severe cold for Thursday, January 6th. Our bus provider has informed us that should the buses not be running that day, they will contact the families that will be affected.

School will be in session. Parents and guardians affected can make arrangements to get their children to school for the day. If the circumstances prevent you from getting your children to school because of the weather, this will be an excused absence.

Please make sure your children are dressed appropriately for the weather. Safety is of the utmost importance here at Savage Schools.

This is not predicted to be a long cold snap. We will get through this with the best of our abilities.

Thank you and be safe,
Martha R. Potter
